

HELPING YOU TO QUIT

Trying to stop smoking? Get free online help with stress, anxiety, low mood and body image.

It's common to feel tense, agitated and even depressed when you try to quit smoking. NHS Wales can help you manage your emotions with free access to a suite of mental health support programmes from digital healthcare platform SilverCloud®.

With help for mild-to-moderate symptoms of anxiety, depression and stress, plus programmes tackling negative body image and money worries, SilverCloud® can support you to feel better and reach your goals.

- 1 Nicotine delivered by smoking
- 2 Nicotine travels to the brain
- 3 Nicotine activates nicotinic receptors which stimulates the release of dopamine
- 4 Dopamine released, leading to pleasant feelings of calmness and reward
- 5 Dopamine levels reduce, leading to withdrawal symptoms of stress and anxiety
- 6 Withdrawal triggers desire for another cigarette

Access anytime, anywhere

Sign up online for free on your phone, tablet or laptop. Access your programme 24/7 wherever you have an internet connection.

Online therapy with a human touch

You'll be allocated an online supporter who will monitor your progress and give personalised fortnightly feedback.

Go at your own pace

Complete your programme in your own time over 12 weeks. Commit an hour a week for the best results. Divide the time into manageable slots to suit your lifestyle and commitments.

NHS Wales' online self-help programmes are powered by SilverCloud® by Amwell® and are designed to support people experiencing mild-to-moderate mental health problems. This is not a crisis service – your needs will be assessed on sign-up, and if the service doesn't meet your needs, you'll be signposted to more appropriate support.
